PROFESSIONAL PROFILE

Internationally minded and now based in Siem Reap, I bring a profile that combines public-facing operations, multilingual communication, customer experience, and hands-on digital expertise. My background spans transport, service environments, and web and mobile development, giving me a rare mix of composure, adaptability, technical execution, and human connection. I am seeking a role in public relations, client experience, operations support, or digital projects where strong interpersonal presence and practical problem-solving are valued.
